Rooted in Beauty: Native Plants in the Garden

Heather Swann

www.plantwisedesign.ca

The presentation is dedicated to the exploration of native plants and their transformative impact on our outdoor spaces. It aims to inspire individuals to reconsider their gardening practices and embrace the beauty and significance of native plant gardens.

Having started as a reluctant gardener, my journey spans almost three decades of learning and evolving. I will share insights into the pivotal moment when I consciously integrated native plants into my gardens. I will briefly delve into the vibrant mini-ecosystem that emerged, attracting a myriad of wildlife as well as transforming the narrative from mere plant stories to exciting tales of coexistence.

I will cover essential topics: 1. Understanding Native Plants 2. Benefits of Native Plants 3. Advantages in Gardens. It aims to dispel misconceptions about native plants, addressing challenges in finding them and providing practical tips for successful integration into gardens. A Q&A session will follow, fostering engagement and addressing specific queries.

Heather Swann is a passionate garden and landscape designer known for her dedication to designing captivating, ecologically balanced outdoor spaces. As the founder of Plant\(t\) Wise Garden & Landscape Design Wise Garden & Landscape Design), her work not only transforms outdoor spaces into vibrant, functional sanctuaries but inspires a deeper connection to nature and fosters environmental stewardship.
